Puerto Madryn is an old Welsh colony founded in the 19th century that served as a port to Rawson and Trelew. You can enjoy these places all year round, in summer for the beaches and snorkeling in the clear waters and in winter for whale watching. Many excursions are possible from Puerto Madryn. The Valdes Peninsula Nature Reserve protects the marine life and you can see sea lions, elephant seals and even Magellan penguins. Along Highway 2 stop close to Bird Island, an island completely covered with birds.

Trelew is the main urban centre of the region. South of the city at Punta Tombo you can see a huge penguin colony of half a million! The Sarmiento Patagonia Petrified Forest is worth seeing. The trees are a few million years old and still intact. If you are heading towards Rio Gallegos you can stop in Comodoro Rivadavia to refuel.
