Where to find fuel in Australia

Petrol and service stations in Australia

As of May 26th, 2021, the average cost of petrol in Australia is $1.114/liter and the average cost of diesel is $1.051

Australia is very big and some areas are isolated and the population density is extremely low (especially in remote areas of the Outback). Although service stations are generally numerous and evenly distributed, it is wise to refuel regularly especially in remote areas.

You can consult them on the Global Prices Petrol website.
