These two cities are full of contrasts. Valparaiso is a rather quaint, old trading port and Vina del Mar a more modern, large and popular seaside resort. The architecture of Vina del Mar is characterized by large, modern infrastructure, as well as the charming "casas quinta" built in the 19th century by British holiday makers. The city is also known as the "Garden City" for its many parks and gardens. Since 1960 Vina del Mar hosts the largest Latin American music festival, the Festival Internacional de la Canción de Viña del Mar. Valparaiso offers a rich historic city centre. The bay is surrounded by hills built up with dozens of houses of all colours. In 2003 it was declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

The surrounding area has many beautiful sights not to be missed. Enjoy a visit to the Concón dunes and the charming artisan and fishing village of Horcón.
