Formerly known as Lorenzo Marques, Maputo is a vibrant city. It is culturally dynamic and very pleasant with its many café terraces and streets lined with pretty Jacaranda trees, making it one of the most attractive capital cities in Africa.

Maputo is built on a small cliff overlooking the Maputo Bay. It was a Portuguese colony and much of the European architecture and old fortifications remain intact today. For example, the dome of the railway station and la Casa de Ferro (iron house) were designed by Gustave Eiffel. Other buildings in Maputo reflect the Arab influence in the region. Head to Rua de Bagamoyo to see the oldest mosque in the city.
