Discovering Spain

Whether you're a mountain and hiking enthusiast or a lazy day at the beach, Spain is the perfect place for your holiday, and there's no better way to discover this country than by motorhome. There is no better way to discover this country than by motorhome, whether you want to live at a frenetic pace in the nights of Barcelona, or enjoy a moment of relaxation in Santiago de Compostela.

Some culinary specialities ...

An emblematic speciality of the Valencia region, paella is the typical traditional Spanish dish known all over the world. Based on round rice and garnished with seafood and fish, it can be accompanied by a glass of white wine, rosé or beer. You can enjoy it in a restaurant or at a typical Iberian Peninsula market.

Chocolate lovers will be delighted to taste the famous chocolate con churros. This contrast between the bitterness of the dark chocolate and the crispness of the fried churros, can be enjoyed in a porcelain cup at breakfast or at snack time. During a stopover in Madrid, you can take a gourmet break at the Chocolatería San Ginés, famous for its churros.

The Spanish fiesta

Partying and dancing are a must when visiting Spain. Famous for its wild nights, the city of Barcelona lives to the rhythm of bars and nightclubs. In a completely different setting are the typical Spanish parties. During the Spanish Carnival, Holy Week or the Feria de Sevilla, Spanish people gather in the streets dressed in their most beautiful traditional costumes to celebrate their flagship dances such as Flamenco or Spanish classical dance.
