

Bryce Canyon and Zion National Park

Harmony between rock columns and canyons

Travel by motorhome in the USA will allow you to explore at your own pace with friends or family, without having to waste time packing and unpacking at different accommodations. You will be able to fully appreciate Bryce Canyon National Park and its neighbor, Zion National Park.

Bryce Canyon National Park is located in the Rocky Mountains and consists mainly of rock spires (the Hoodoos) and conifers. The magnificent scenery will take your breath away! The park is between Las Vegas and Salt Lake City, making it easy to visit as soon as you have collected your motorhome. If you come from Las Vegas, we suggest that you start the tour of the park by Rainbow Point (in the south) and travel upwards to the north.

The main road is suitable for motorhomes and offers 14 view points, including Sunset Point and Sunrise Point. The park offers many beautiful walks and hikes, such as the Navajo Loop Trail. Don't miss the natural arch called the Natural Bridge. Enjoy life in your motorhome in this wonderful park and stop to picnic in the designated areas. There are 2 campsites within the park and 3 just outside.

Zion National Park is just 75 miles away from Bryce Canyon and you can easily visit one after the other.
